

Dear Ministry Partners:

February 2019

As winter camp season winds down, we continue to thank the Lord for giving us the opportunity to share His good news with boys and girls. Our 3 Arctic Blast weekends are the high light of our winter outreach. We are praising God for all of His provision this season. Volunteer staff, campers, truck drivers, nurses, pastors—all giving of their time to ensure that the seeds of the gospel are sown into the hearts of children and teens. Each one appointed by the Lord to come together for “such a time as this.”

Another component of ministry on Blueberry is our winter rental retreat opportunities. Six different youth groups returned for a weekend of ministry this past winter and have secured their spots to return next winter as well. It is a joy to serve these groups as they come to challenge their teens in the Word and praise and worship our great God. We enjoy working with our teen helpers who serve with us. It is a privilege to be a part of their discipleship too. Four teens came and volunteered with us to run the Lodge and kitchen for these rental groups. We enjoy spending time with them as they help us with dishes, setting and serving in the dining hall, keeping fires going, filling wood boxes, shoveling decks and exits, and running trash to shed. We greatly depended on their help and are thankful for them. God continues to meet needs at every turn by sending good help. This is such an encouragement to us.

Thank you as well. Your prayer and financial partnership is also of great encouragement. We are excited to switch gears soon and begin summer planning so that the boys and girls whom God will send “may know His Word, and set their hope in Him.”

Together with your partnership, we can continue to “Tell IT on the Mountain.....”
